Vehicle Safety Research – Advanced Vehicle Technologies

Forward Collision Warning (FCW), Lane Departure Warning (LDW), Dynamic Brake Support (DBS), and Crash Imminent Braking (CIB)

- NHTSA has developed objective test procedures for both light vehicles (under 10,000 Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR)) and heavy vehicles (over 10,000 GVWR).
- NHTSA has performed real-world testing/field studies to evaluate real-world performance, benefits, and driver acceptance.
- Light vehicle technologies (FCW, LDW, CIB, DBS) are part of the NHTSA's New Car Assessment Program (NCAP). The NCAP uses the performance tests (objective test procedures) developed through agency research.
- In 2016, NHTSA and the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS) announced a voluntary agreement with 20 automakers to make Automatic Emergency Braking standard by 2022.

PAEB – Pedestrian Automatic Emergency Braking

- A research test procedure has been developed and is under agency review. The following work supported development of the test procedures:
 - Evaluation of Safety Benefits (work completed in 2017);
 - Estimation of Potential Safety Benefits for Pedestrian Crash Avoidance/Mitigation System¹; and
 - Target Crashes and Safety Benefits Estimation Methodology for Pedestrian Crash Avoidance/Mitigation Systems.²
- The December 2015 NCAP Notice identified this technology as a potential new technology to feature in the NCAP.

BSD – Blind Spot Detection

- A research test procedure and research performance criteria have been developed and are under agency review.
- The December 2015 NCAP Notice identified BSD as a potential new technology to feature in the NCAP.

Lane Keeping Support

- A test procedure has been developed and has been incorporated as a supplemental test within NHTSA's Lane Departure Warning (LDW) NCAP test procedure.
- As noted in the December 2015 NCAP Notice, this technology is not yet ready to feature as a stand-alone technology in the NCAP.

Automatic Crash Notification

- Research has been completed, and the report will be published soon. It will describe the safety potential and technical considerations of post-crash technologies such as automatic collision notification (ACN) and advanced automatic collision notification (AACN).
 - These technologies provide automatic notification of a crash when it reaches a minimum severity such as air bag deployment. Notification to a 911 call center or telematics service provider (TSP) occurs via cellular signal that allows the vehicle to place a call and transmit data.
 - Research was conducted on the target population who may benefit from AACN, injury prediction algorithms used by AACN systems, and estimates of costs and benefits that could be realized with implementation of AACN. Finally, research was conducted on development of a procedure to test AACN systems.
- As discussed in the December 2015 NCAP Notice, this technology was not yet ready for inclusion.

Driver Attention Monitoring

- Research projects have been completed, and the resulting reports are nearing publication.

NHTSA Workforce Diversity Initiatives

Fellowships/Internships

- Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health Fellowship (ASPPH). This program brings in young professionals with a recent Master's degree in public health as research fellows. Fellows conduct research related to traffic safety during their fellowship, while developing their professional skills and expertise. From 2015 to 2019, 11 of the 23 fellows (48 percent) have been minorities. Two of the four fellows (50 percent) hired by NHTSA for full-time jobs after completing their fellowship have been minorities.
- Summer Transportation Internship Program for Diverse Groups (STIPDG). NHTSA brings on 6 to 8 summer interns every year through STIPDG. It provides a unique opportunity for students to gain valuable professional experience and skills. This program is designed to mentor and cultivate tomorrow's leaders, strengthen their understanding of the transportation industry, and prepare them for future public service opportunities.

Minority organizations receiving e-notices about NHTSA's open positions:

- National Association of Asian-American Professionals
- National Urban League
- Native American Heritage Association
- National Association of Hispanic Federal Executives
- Asian-American Government Executive Network
- Society of Women Engineers
- Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers

Minority College Recruitment Outreach

- Career Fairs. NHTSA participates in career fairs at local minority-serving institutions.
- E-College Recruitment. NHTSA sends notices about job openings to a consortium of more than 100 colleges and universities through the Handshake online portal, including many historically black colleges and universities.

People with Disabilities

NHTSA distributes information about open positions to organizations for people with disabilities, Schedule A Disability, and 30% Disabled Veterans, including:
